Project

E-commerce Website

Developed a full-stack e-commerce website for a construction materials company, utilizing MongoDB, Angular, Node.js, and Express. The platform allows users to browse, search, and purchase a wide range of construction products with a user-friendly interface and secure payment processing. Integrated backend API with MongoDB for data storage, while ensuring responsive design and seamless user experience using Angular on the frontend. Focused on scalability, performance optimization, and implementing key features such as product management, user authentication, and order tracking.
