SUMMARY

As a Full Stack MERN Developer with 1 year of professional experience, I have a strong foundation in building and deploying dynamic web applications. My skills include MongoDB, Express.js, React, and Node.js, enabling me to create both the user interface and server-side logic seamlessly. I am well-versed in the entire software development life cycle, from developing functional prototypes to deploying applications on cloud platforms. I focus on optimizing code quality, user engagement, and system scalability while ensuring smooth and reliable deployment to production environments.
